TRUTHFUL JOURNALISM.

"We see daily how facts are misrepresented, simple statements distorted, and a deliberate invention of lies superadded to perhaps a few particulars of truth.—P. C. A., Monday, Nov. 20th.

By what unconscious irony does it give so truthful an account of its own columns! In the editorial of which the above extract is the last sentence, it says that "the gallant Commander's (Capt. Belknap's) dispatch to his Chief has been altogether misrepresented in the quoted extract."

We have made the most careful and searching inquiries, and find that the "altogether misrepresented" dwindles down to the fact that the newspaper extract is not literally a copy of the gallant captain's despatch. It is, however, in substance exactly the same.

We can state, on the best authority, that the inferences drawn by the newspaper extract from the despatch are exactly what was expected to be drawn from it by any sensible man, and convey the impression meant to be conveyed to the Secretary of the Navy. The only points in the extract referred to which may lead to wrong impressions are the following: "The planters have formed a protective union, and made a protest to the King against the selection of his Cabinet." This contains two statements, both of which are true in themselves, but which need to be separated by a period to convey their exact meaning as the planters had formed their protective union long before the present Ministry was formed. Still this protective union did protest to the King against the continuance in office of the Ministry. And also this "the matter probably will drag along until the coronation day, when indications point to a disturbance of the alleged evil is not remedied." This extract does not refer to the Captain's own opinions but to what he has heard.

Mr. Editor:—I trust you will allow a friend to protest mildly but decidedly against what seems to be the spirit and purport of the communication in Tuesday's BULLETIN, on the recent race between the Milia and the Kanoelani. Even assuming the facts to be as represented, it seems to me hardly proper to use the occasion as a means of stirring up race prejudices. Better leave that business to the class of survey politicians who hope to profit thereby. A disposition to quibble over the result of a race, whether of boats or of horses, and to resort to sharp practice to avoid owning a square beat, is not peculiar to Hawaiians. The class of people known as "sea lawyers" did not originate in these islands. If the Kanaka has become a trickster and a jockey in sporting matters, he has only followed the example the foreigner has set him. The writer is probably not familiar with the history of the Kapiolani Park Track and the jobs that have been "put up" by well-known foreigners in connection with the racing thereon. Had he been so, he might perhaps not have written an article the substance of which seems to be, "See how these tricky natives are trying to cheat these honest foreigners."

(Per favor of the DAILY BULLETIN)

Mr. C. P. LAKEA,

Sir,—On behalf of the Kanoelani crew, I hereby accept your challenge to row a four-oared race under similar conditions as the former match race, on Tuesday the 28th inst.

I am &c., yours truly,

CLARENCE MACFARLANE.

Honolulu, Nov. 22, 1882.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Abernethy is due about the end of January.

The Alaska will leave after the steamer from the Coast comes in. She may therefore be expected to leave any time after Saturday.

The steamer Iwalani will be due to-morrow morning from Kona, &c.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS.

Brown has got a new kind of hat.

His Majesty is having his boat-house built by Chinese carpenters.

HAVE you bought your tickets yet for the St. Louis College Fair on Monday?

YESTERDAY afternoon's reception on board the Alaska was most enjoyable.

How much longer is the Board of Health going to allow the wreck of the Niagara to obstruct the harbor entrance?

There will be a Musical and Literary Entertainment, to be followed by a Social, at Fort Street Church, this evening at 7:30.

MESSRS. Dias & Gonsales have just received a fine new stock of goods for the holidays. We may specially mention their embroidered slippers as work of art.

A horse and buggy were left standing all Tuesday night at the corner of King and Fort streets. They were taken to the police court yesterday morning.

ONE of the heaviest mails ever despatched from our Post Office was sent by the City of Sydney on Monday. 5,664 letters, weighing 168 lbs. 8 oz., and 1,379 papers, weighing 295 lbs. 12 oz.

A letter has been received from Mr. C. H. Tierney, Captain of the Julia, dated August 5th, Rotumah Island. He arrived there on August 4th, 19 days from this port. He proposes to return in December.

On Tuesday afternoon, after the Likelike had left the wharf, a native woman jumped overboard and swam to the Marine Railway, where she landed and ran at full speed up the town.

The jurors appointed by the Marshal went out yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock to consider the advisability of opening a new road at Kaluaopalea, Kalihi. They had not returned at 4 p.m.

TUESDAY night was very stormy. The wind was so strong that it blew down the telephone posts supporting the wire to Diamond Head, and broke the wire thus preventing telephonic communication with the Signal Station. Repairs will be proceeded with to-day.

LAST Tuesday evening, while a native lady and a China boy were driving along Palama road, in a private carriage, some part of the harness broke and the horse bolted. A gentleman, with presence of mind and courage, succeeded in stopping the animal before any damage was done beyond alarming the occupants of the carriage.

We draw our readers' attention to the fact that Mr. Guilbert's celebrated trotting mare, Maggie Magee, will be sold to-morrow, by auction, on account of his departure from the islands. We can, from our own knowledge, warrant her as being kind, gentle, and easily driven. We are assured she has an excellent pedigree, and is most suitable for breeding purposes. Other things will be sold at the sale, a top buggy, first class, saddle and bridle, and bedroom suite, &c.

THE Hon. Noble Kuilelani was rewarded with a pension for his many services to the country, but who is not too old and infirm to hold a Government position with a handsome salary, bought the other day a fish-pond for $15,000. We think that a fish-pond which is worth such an enormous sum, ought to throw off profits enough to make it unnecessary for the Hon. Noble to accept public charity.—Communicated.—[The Hon. gentleman, by the terms of the act providing the pension, does not draw any of it till he resigns all other government pay.—Ed.]

YESTERDAY we were favored with a private view of some of Mr. Furneaux's most recent sketches. We were thoroughly pleased with the whole, and hope to see many of them find their resting places in these islands. Amongst those we most fancied are views of the island of Mokolii, on the Koolau side, a view of Waikiki, near the late Judge Harris' house, a view of the mountains near Pohulehule, Koolau, showing the new moon and the evening star, a view of Diamond Head from the reef, a view of a lane and water-course at Kohala, two different views of Lae Kaoio point on this island, views of the old Judd house at Koolauloa, two views in Manoa valley, views of Kohala landing and Honokaa bluff, Pololu gulch. Besides these we noticed on plaque a fine view of Waianae range, another of the Rainbow falls at Hilo and a sunset scene at the coconut Island, Hilo. A fine souvenir of last Thursday's races was shown us in the shape of a picture of the Yachts in the first race rounding the stake-boat at Waikiki. Altogether we may say that the studio furnishes numerous examples of what beauties there are in our Hawaiian Islands. We trust that this Christmas will see many of them permanently located here.
